

NEXT WEEK'S AMUSEMENTS

Belasco—"The Co-Respondent."

A new play in four acts will be presented at the Belasco Theater next Monday evening for the first time in any stage. It is entitled "The Co-Respondent," by Alice Lee Pollock and Rita Weisman, two young women who have heretofore confined their playwriting to the vaudeville stage.

In "The Co-Respondent" they are said to have portrayed a most interesting character, a young woman of the Middle West, whose innocent gallantry, against spending the remainder of her life in a rural district. She meets by accident a good-looking, well-mannered, attractive man of the world and promptly falls in love with him. They plan an elopement but before they hastily arranged wedding can be accomplished the story develops a surprisingly intense situation. The girl hurriedly departs for New York and after accomplishing satisfactory results in her work she begins to feel the first emotion of a genuine affection for the man. She divines nothing concerning whence she came, nor why, until by force of overwhelming circumstantial evidence she is innocent of the charge of elopement. The play is a face-a-co-respondent.

National-Julian Ellingboe.

The opening night performance next Monday of Julian Ellingboe's visit to the National Theater promises to hold great interest for the ladies. On that evening the famous impersonator will show the first time in this country a complete array of new gowns just received from the designers. It is further stated that duplicates of this wardrobe are not to be seen in any of the shops for several months. Julian Ellingboe will exhibit these ultra models during the second act of his musical comedy, "Cousin Lucy," his newest vehicle. But the gowns will be only one detail of the production. The cast in Ellingboe's play is another feature. It includes Dallas Walford, Mrs. Stuart Robson, Harriet Burr, Ruth Gard, Mabel Acker, Austin Webb, Mark Smith and others of equal caliber. There is also a large chorus.

Poll—"The Dummy."

"The Dummy," one of the cleverest detective comedies that has been produced on the American stage within the last twenty-five years, will be the offering of the Poll Players next week.

The hero of the play is a New York street urchin, who is the head of a famous detective bureau in New York, and applies for a job. The boy's ready wit and resourcefulness astonish the detective chief, who is looking for a man for a dangerous mission—the rounding up of a notorious band of kidnappers.

In order to get in touch with the criminals, the boy poses as a deaf mute, and allows himself to be kidnapped. In this manner he succeeds in being confined in the same room with the child whose life he is trying to rescue.

There are many striking character roles in "The Dummy," and the Poll Players are expected to give an effective performance.

Keith's—Elsie Janis.

Elsie Janis is the headliner at Keith's next week. Miss Janis will give "Impressions of My Favorite Stars," and her whimsical originality is indicated by the fact that her stage favorites are presented in roles and scenes quite the reverse of their ordinary accomplishments.

The surrounding bill contains Ralph Dunbar's Maryland Lingers in crinolines and ballads of the 80's; Tony Hunting and Corinne Francis in "Love Blossoms"; Claude and Panny Usher; Raymond and Caverly; Lohas and Sterling; Corcoran and Dingle; Herbert's loop the loop and leaping dogs; the organ recitals and the Pathé pictorial.

Next Sunday the bill will offer "The Forest Fire" and other inclusions of the current week.

Calve Concert.

The fiftieth anniversary of the Calve benefit will be given at the New National Theater this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

With Calve heading the list, the program will include that charming exponent of old English and French folk songs, Lorraine Wyman, who will appear in costume; Calve's husband, Galileo Garpari, tenor, and Carlos Salgado, the harpist.

The object of the benefit is to aid in the work of raising funds for the wounded on the French front.

Julia Culp Recital.

Julia Culp, premiere lieder singer, will make her first appearance of the season at the New National Theater, Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when the seventh of T. Arthur Smith's tenor recitals is scheduled. As in the past, she will have Conrad Bos as her accompanist, presenting the following program:
